You need to cut the bottom thread from the wrong side

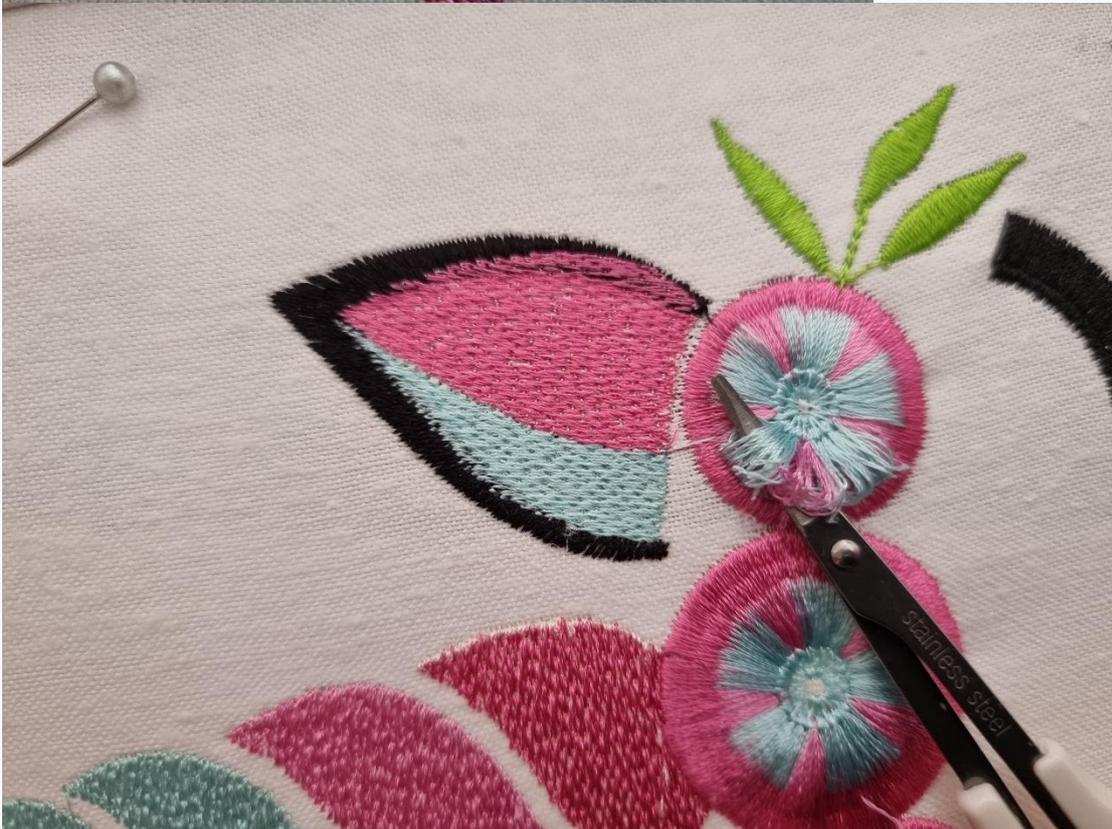

When cutting the lower thread, try not to catch the upper thread.

After cutting the lower thread, we carefully remove the upper thread on the front side of the embroidery.

You don't need to cut anything on the front. Here we take out only the thread!

This manipulation must be done several times. First, cut the top layer from the wrong side, remove it from the front. Then do the same with the middle layer. And so on until all layers are free.

Enjoy the result of your work!
