

Decoration FSL can be embroidered on two layers of a water-soluble stabilizer.

If your water-soluble stabilizer is rather dense, then you can embroider on one layer.

After the products are embroidered, the water-soluble stabilizer should be washed.

If it is a brooch or other product that must be tough and keep in shape, do not wash away the highly water-soluble stabilizer.

The product must then be dried. Sometimes you can use an iron, you need to put under the product and top a terry towel and iron it.

Then, according to your taste, the product can be decorated with beads, sequins, paillettes. And add hardware.

The flower is sewn to the cactus by hand. If instead of the middle of the flower you want to use a bead, do not embroider the last color in the design (this is the middle of the flower)
