

How to

1. Embroider wings of butterfly on organza. Use the lower thread of the same color as the upper thread. To get a good result, it is need to put a water-soluble stabilizer in the hoop with organza.

2. Cut the wings of the bee. !The wings must be cut out together: two wings make up one piece!

3. Embroider first color of the body of a bee on a water-soluble stabilizer
4. Embroider a second color that shows the location of the lower wings. Put the lower wings on the place and sew the third color.
5. Embroider a fourth color that shows the location of the upper wings. Put the upper wings on the place and sew the fifth color.

6. Embroider the last decorative color.
7. After embroidering, wash and remove the water-soluble stabilizer.
Do not wash the stabilizer to the end so that the butterfly is tough and keeps its shape. Then dry the butterfly. Then, according to your taste, the product can be decorated with beads, sequins, paillettes. And add hardware.
